

GLOCOL BANGKOK Seminar Series |

Modernity and Beyond: Toward a Reframing of Human Security and the Philosophy of Sustainability from Southeast Asian Perspectives

Date: March 17 --- 22, 2010
Venue: Osaka University, GLOCOL Bangkok

The purpose of workshops is discussing with some global issues such as multiculturalism, gender and population. These global issues are shared among people in East and Southeast Asian countries commonly, but in different ways, and should be reinterpreted both in each local context and in broader Asian perspective, with reflecting and reconsidering the western modern framework to conceptualize the global issues. In this workshop, we will visit three sites in Thailand, and exchange views with the experts. In these sites, we can learn common global issues shared among East and Southeast Asian people, and some possible solutions.
