Student Workshop Theme

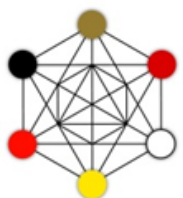

Designing Transdisciplinary Futures: Creating, Applying, and Enabling New Fields

Objectives

Addressing complex societal challenges increasingly demands a transdisciplinary approach that integrates knowledge from multiple fields. To effectively tackle these challenges, it is essential to cultivate individuals who can think and work across disciplinary boundaries. The HeKKSaGOn student workshop provides Japanese and German students with a platform to explore the potential of transdisciplinary collaboration, the skills it requires, and opportunities for future learning.

Expected Outcomes

This workshop is expected to foster transdisciplinary thinking, broaden global perspectives, enhance communication and collaboration skills, and encourage students to rediscover the potential of their own specializations.
